The Indian Bill Passed. The House yesterday passed the Indian appropriation bill, carrying $7,785,528. It then proceeded to tangle itself up over the bill to abolish the grade of lieutenant general in the army. The result was an adjournment for lack of a quorum, after members had been locked in the hall for a half hour and the assistant sergeant-atarms had been scurrying to the various hotels in search of members. The vote to consider the bill showed an overwhelming sentiment in its favor, and as it is the pending business under call of committees, will probably be reached and passed in

AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Proposed Flag Day Celebration in Philadelphia.

THE PRESIDENT INVITED

To Take Place in the Betsy Ross Home.

A TALK ON CANAL AFFAIRS

Senator Hopkins' Views on the Character of the Work-Standard Oil People Confer With President.

President Roosevelt has been asked to go to Philadelphia June 14 to take part in a great celebration of flag day. He is uncertain whether he can go, but he may decide to go later on, as the occasion promises to be of historic interest and wholly a patriotic affair. The invitation was extended by John Quincy Adams and George Clinton Batcheller, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the American Flag House and Betsy Ross Memorial Association. They were accompanied by Representatives Adams, McCreary and Mahon.

The association of which Messrs, Adams and Batcheller are officers has at last succeeded in raising sufficient money to pay off the mortgage on the home of Betsy Ross, the designer and maker of the first American flag. This house was purchase eight years ago for $25,000 by the association, which immediately began to raise money throughout the country by popular subscription of 10 cents from each person, a certificate of membership in the association being conferred upon each contributor. There were other contributions of larger sums, but in the main the total necessary was raised wholly by the certificate plan. The total number of contributors was 1,046,270, the largest number being from New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

To Give It to the Government.

The mortgage on the place having been paid by laborious and tedious work, it is now proposed to introduce a resolution in -and facilities indispensable Congress offering to give the property to to the prompt execution of the United States government, and directattractive PRINTING of all ing the acceptance thereof. Should this resolution go through Congress and the government take charge the formal turn-ing over will take place June 14 in the very birthplace of Old Glory itself. The cost to the government will be nothing except in caring for the building. It was in the house that Betsy Ross spent fully a year design-ing and making the flag that was adopted of the last one. He resembles his forefathers to a large extent.

The resident was pleased with the work that has been done and expressed a desire to be present if it were possible to leave his work, and consistent with the attitude he has adopted of declining all invitations.

The Panama Canal.

Senator Hopkins of Illinois, a member of the Senate committee on interoceanic canals, talked to the President today about canal affairs before his committee. Senator Hopkins says the committee will be at work for some time. Asked whether Congress will pass upon the type of a canal to be built, he said: "I suppose it will do so. Perbuilt, he said: "I suppose it will do so. Perbuilt, he said: "I suppose it will do so. Perbuilt, he said: "I suppose it will do so. Perbuilt, he said: "I suppose it will do so. Perbuilt suppose it will do so. Perbuilt suppose it will do so. Perbuilt suppose it will sup nals, talked to the President today about built, he said: "I suppose it will do so. Personally. I am with the administration in the matter of a lock canal. I have reached that opinion largely from the view of Chief Engineer Stevens, who I regard as one of the best engineers of the world. I am sat-isfied he knows what he is talking about when he says that a lock canal is wnat this country should build.'

Vice President Fairbanks introduced to the President today Dr. Herbert Welch, president of the Ohio Wesleyan University, and Davis S. Gray of Columbia, president of the board of trustees of the same institution. They came to Washington to attend an alumni gathering of the institution, of which the Vice President is a graduate. The President greeted his visitors most cor-

Conferred With Standard Oil People. A mysterious White House conference last night has attracted immense attention. Not a word in elucidation of it has been got from any source. The President will not say anything. Secretary Loeb is mum, and H. H. Rogers and John D. Archbold, vice presidents of the Standard Oil Company, who were the central figures, left town today without talking.

There is a suspicion that the conference had to do with the message the President sent to Congress a day or so ago on the Fillman-Gillespie resolution, in which he doubted the efficacy of the resolution be-cause the testimony taken would be useless on the ground of immunity. The Standard Oil magnates were evidently expected at the White House. They drove there from the Arlington Hotel, reaching there about 10 o'clock and leaving an hour

Removals From Office.

President Roosevelt has removed from office John D. Oliphant, register; J. A. Trotter, receiver, and I. J. Chapman, clerk, of the land office at Mangum, Oklahoma, for some irregularities in the conduct of the business of the office. He has appointed George B. Roberts to be register of the Mangum land office in succession to Oliphant. The appointment is only temporary, as the Mangum office is to be discontinued in April.

President Roosevelt has been made an honorary member of the American Alpine Club. In addition to being a member of the American Alpine Club, President Roosevelt is also a member of the Alpine Club of London. Both clubs are composed of men who have climbed the Alpine mountains. At the opening of the proceedings it was conceded by the accused attorney that the statement that Mr. Burrows was intoxicated was false. It was contended for Moss that he had stated that some one had told him that the jurer was under the influence of liquor, which he then believed, but that he had investigated the matter later and found that the information was false, and that Mr. Burrows was not under the influence of liquor on that occasion. Judge Kimball contradicted that statement, however, saying that Moss had stated to the court at the time of challenging the juror that he himself had seen him drunk and his honor added that Moss did not say that he was informed to that effect, as he claimed Locked Out Men Hold Meeting Today -Apprentices Said to Have Returned to Work. 5, square 38; $10.

The Master Plumbers' Association has issued through Mr. Robert B. Caverly, chairman of the press committee, a statement setting forth the employers' side of the controversy with the journeymen plumbers' union. The workmen were locked out last Monday morning by the masters, and yesterday the apprentices and helpers' union went out on a sympathetic strike and joined forces with the locked-out plumbers. In their statement the master plumbers say that "as had been fully expected, the journeymen plumbers have succeeded in stampeding the helpers and apprentices to desert their employers and cast their lot with them. When we say stampeded it is with the fullest meaning of the word, as upon more mature consideration by these boys, who have staked their all on this

"That the public may have some under-standing of the conditions upon which plumbing work is carried out by the plumbers in Washington, it is only necessary to cite the following:

move, they will realize the gravity of their

"The Washington season for building extends usually from March 1 to January 1. During this period all of the sober and competent plumbers invariably have employment. Necessarily there are the months of January and February when the building trades are slack and perhaps 50 per cent of the men who work through the other months are idle. How Work is Carried On. "The conditions under which the work is carried on are-the journeymen handle the tools exclusively, the helpers accompanying them solely as assistants in bringing materials to their hands. Under no circumstances are helpers permitted to use any kind of tools. A drastic law of the jour-neymen's union is to the effect that in the threading of pipe, even, if the helper works at the vise the journeyman must do noth-ing while the boy is thus employed, the object helps to give just as little work as object being to give just as little work as possible to the employer, and, through him, to the public. Two apprentices are allowed each shop, and such apprentices are allowed lowed to handle tools and are what is termed 'junior plumbers.' Whether an employer has on his rolls 100 men or only one man the two converses. man the two apprentices are allotted just the same.

"An agreement between the Master Plumbers' Association and the journeymen's union signed four years ago, and which expires in 1908, stipulates that two helpers will be allowed for every three plumbers employed. This implies that two of these plumbers can have assistants and of these plumbers can have assistants and the third must work alone."

Demands Made Last Summer. The statement of the master plumbers adds that last year, in July or August, as individuals, they stated, and demanded that the helpers and apprentices should have union cards or they would strike. The master plumbers were helpless, and while they did not accede to this demand as an association, they did so where absolutely compelled to, solely as individuals, but they signed no agreement to this effect, and strongly protested against the technical violation of the signed agreement between the two associations.

The journeymen having failed to eliminate the helper, it is further stated, during their strike of four years ago sought by embracing the entire body of boys who were at that time employed in the union and then closing the books shutting out other boys who were not fortunate enough to be employed at that time "and denying to every boy in Washington in the future his constitutional right to learn a trade. Since this union of the boys was formed many plumbers have received applications from strong, sturdy, intelligent boys who had a commendable ambition to learn the plumbing trade, but they have been turned down. Furthermore, the master plumbers have been compelled by the journeymen refusing to work with boys not belonging to this union to do with less than one-third of the quota of helpers allowed them by the signed agreement. It is the expressed insigned agreement. It is the expressed in-tention of the journeymen to get rid of the helpers by hook or crook, no matter what the cost, and in this way they expect to build a wall around Washington, compelling its citizens to confine the business of plumbing to the 265 journeymen in the local union and keep out at all hazards workmen from other cities by fines and exorbi-tant initiation fees and playing the dog-inthe-manger act, thereby limiting the amount of improvements the city may make from year to year.

Rights as Free Americans. "The promise made by the journeymen's association to the boys if they would desert their employers that in event of the victory by them in the present trouble the boys could demand $1.50 per day, while they are now receiving as helpers an average of 75 cents. We are informed they have made like overtures to the Plumber Laborers Union and have promised to stand behind them for an advance. It is easy for the average citizen to calculate what his plumbing bills will be in the future should the present lockout result in the failure of the

The statement made recently in the press that the master plumbers send boys out to do the work for which they charge journey men's prices is characterized as almost too absurd to require contradiction. A drastic rule of the journeymen's union requires that under no circumstances will helpers be per and this is regarded sufficient refutation of

tions, it is alleged, made and enforced by the journeymen simply because the conditions of the contracts in hand demanded submission. By reason of such the plumbing business has ceased to be profitable in the least degree, so that this year they were confronted by either making a stand for a square deal or going out of business A call has been issued by the state reand they have unanimously chosen the for mer. All of the conditions covered by this strike or lockout have been fully covered by largely attended meetings, and they stand today as they will a year hence, if necessary for a square deal in the truest sense of the

> with which to hang themselves," the master plumbers declare, "we hope will see the error of their way before Monday next, and after the excitement and hurrah of the meeting held Wednesday night has been dissipated, they will come to a sober understanding that the employers are their friends and protectors and have vouchsafed them opportunities to make a living and learn a trade, and who will continue to have bright American boys to learn the trade in the future.' Locked-Out Men Hold Meeting.

There was a large assemblage of the locked-out plumbers at their headquarters in Costello's Hall this forenoon and addresses were made by several of the offieers of the Plumbers' Union. They said their cause was a just one and urged the men to stand firm for their rights. The speakers were frequently interrupted by applause. It is believed the union will make a statement of its side of the controversy tomo Master plumbers claimed today that twelve of the boys, members of the Helpers' Union, returned to work this morning and that others are expected to follow suit. They also claim that the union has commenced to post pickets in the vicinity of several shops in order to learn if noninionists have taken the places of the locked out workmen, and also to ascertain if any turned to work.
